

Author's response to reviews

Title: Cluster of systemic lupus erythematosus (SLE) associated with an oil field waste site: a cross sectional study

Authors:

James Dahlgren (dahlgren@envirotoxicology.com)
Harpreet Takhar (htakhar@envirotoxicology.com)
Pamela Anderson-Mahoney (panderso@usc.edu)
Jenny Kotlerman (jkotterm@ucla.edu)
Jim Tarr (info@stonelions.com)
Raphael Warshaw (ray@wdds.com)

Version: 4 Date: 20 September 2006

Author's response to reviews:

September 20th, 2006

Environmental Health: A Global Access Science Source

Dear Editors,

Attached is a revised copy of our paper entitled "Cluster of Systemic Lupus Erythematosus (SLE) Associated with an Oil Field Waste Site: A Cross Section Study," which we are submitting for your consideration.

We have reviewed both the referee's suggestions and comments and have made all the changes requested.

If you have any additional comments or changes, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

James Dahlgren, MD